A safe, certain method for erasing the skin of ugly, hairy growths is as follows: Mix a paste with some powdered talcum and water, apply to hairy surface about 2 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.—Adv.

WIFE'S PLEA MAKES BANDITS QUIT STORE

Mrs. Russel, Camden, Whose Child is Ill, Refuses to Be Awed by Guns

THEY TAKE GROCERIES, FLEE

Two youthful bandits, who said they intended to give a party for their friends, entered the grocery store of Morris Russel, 1505 Kenwood street, Camden, early this morning and obtained supplies for the feast while they covered the proprietor with revolvers.

After helping themselves to the choice of the stock and taking about $25 from the cash register, the robbers were about to make a further search when they saw Mrs. Russel's wife in a rear room. They ordered her to hold up her hands. Mrs. Russel, however, was not overawed by the weapons.

"I have a sick daughter here," she said, "and I'm waiting for the doctor. You had better get out before he comes."

Having gathered enough for their feast, the appeal touched the youths. They gathered up their bundles and backed out of the door.

On reaching the street they escaped in a dilapidated automobile.

Drinking a quantity of medicine containing a powerful drug, Francis McElhinis, six years old, of 1123a Pine street, Camden, is in a serious condition in Coe Hospital. The child was found in convulsions by its mother.

On a charge of biting a finger of Joseph H. Hooker, a special policeman of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Barney Malone, of 1344 Pine street, this city, was yesterday held under $500 bail in the Camden Police Court. Malone is said to have been tripping passengers on the train, and the train conductor, Camden Policeman Hooker, placed him under arrest and Malone is alleged to have bitten the officer.

HOLD AUCTION AT BRISTOL

Harriman Hospital, Firehouse and 200 Lots Sold

The Harriman Hospital at Bristol, the firehouse and 200 building lots were sold at auction last night in Bristol by Joseph P. Day, the auctioneer representing the Government.

The latest sale virtually cleans up the Government holdings at the shipyard and village, and next week, when Uncle Sam turns over the real estate to the Merchants' Shipping Corporation, the one-time bustling shipyard community will be a thing of the past.

The purchase of the hospital was Dr. George T. Fox, of Bristol. He paid $10400 for the building, with its equipment, and he announced that he intended to operate it as a community project. Mr. Fox's brothers, contractors, also of Bristol, bid in the firehouse, but they have not revealed what they intend doing with it. The price paid was $4000.

The various lots went to residents of Bristol for prices ranging from $200 to $2000. The majority of them are being held for investment purposes. Some, however, say they intend building immediately on them.

HELD UP NEAR POLICE

Man Reports Robbery Across Street From Station

Stanley Ashworth, twenty-four, of 2083 Mainyunk avenue, pushed into the police station at Seluylor street and Hunting Park avenue, at 2:15 o'clock this morning and reported that two men had held him up just across the street on the opposite corner. He said they took a diamond stickpin valued at $100 and $1 in cash.

They were young men, he said, about eighteen years old, and went through his pockets, taking everything, then returning two street car tickets and the safety pins from his pin. Patrolman Kelly and William McGinnis, a watchman at a factory at Twenty-first street and Hunting Park avenue, both said they saw Ashworth standing on the corner, but at no time were the two men whom he reported robbed him.
